May Beyer is first woman to receive Chamber award

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis resident May Beyer was named Hancock County's 1982 outstanding citizen Friday night at the Hancock Chamber of Commerce annual banquet.

She was the sixth to receive such an honor and the first woman recipient.

The award was presented by Pat Harvill, chamber special events chairman, who said, "The award is presented to the person who has contributed a great deal of time to the betterment of the county as a whole."

A widow of the late Cmdr. C.R.

Beyer, she is the mother of three; grandmother of 10; and great-grandmother of five.

Her accomplishments include: past president of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club; volunteer at the Veterans Hospital in Gulfport; helping organize the United Way of Hancock County; and is still executive secretary; chairman of the Hancock Heart Fund for 14 years; and instrumental work in getting the Senior Citizens' programs started in Hancock County.

Beyer became involved with other programs, such as founding the summer camp program for underprivileged children in conjunction with Camp Onward, serving on the board of the Gulf Coast Mental Health Association and was instrumental in having services extended to Hancock County.

She also served on the board of the retarded children's school and helped to further the cause of better services for the children.

Many members of Mrs. Beyer's family attended the banquet attended by over 200 persons.

Waveland officials secretive in zoning change discussion

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A Waveland official at a City Board of Aldermen meeting Wednesday night refused to explain what area was involved in discussion of an apparent zoning change request.

Barbara Rappold, city clerk and Ward One alderman, presented several sheets of paper stapled together which included a sheet with several signatures and a map photocopy with an outlined oblong area listed as R-3.

Rappold and Mayor John Longo discussed the matter, but did not reveal what area they were talking about.

The mayor told Rappold he did not have any major objections.

"Everyone agreed at the time. It's located along the track, but we objected to the area being completely open," Longo stated.

Rappold said, "A lot of people are not on the petition."

Longo added that several names of area landowners were not on the petition including "the McDonalds" and stated, "My recommendation is they may have the whole thing. I knew we would be getting a petition."

Rappold reported, "The people who own the property object. I don't know why this property was designated like this at that time."

The city clerk and alderman added she lives near the property.

When asked what area they were discussing, Rappold replied it was nothing important because she was just presenting a letter to the mayor to read.

"We have to do further investigation on this," she stated.

When also asked if the area in discussion was the Hymel property, beachfront land which the owners unsuccessfully attempted to utilize to build time-sharing condominiums, Rappold replied "no."

She said the subject of the documents was not important, but information of their contents would be publicly released at another time.

Rappold refused to reveal what the discussion concerned or allow a newsmedia representative to view the documents.

Regarding the city's new water tower to be constructed on US-90, the board chose to paint the tower 'Waveland blue.'

The color is listed as Waveland No. 2804-D on the paint selection chart of Industrial Coatings, Inc. of Birmingham, Ala.

Longo said the eight-story tower would be painted the blue with the word 'Waveland' in white lettering.

The board also authorized the first payment of $113,553 to Taylor Iron Works. The firm is building the new tower.

In reference to the 1984 World's Fair in New Orleans, the board heard a report from Jeannine Garcia about tours planned and a brochure for Waveland in conjunction with the event. She said three New Orleans hotels are interested in offering tours including stops in Hancock County.

Garcia also presented prices she received from several companies to produce the brochure.

Longo urged Garcia to utilize Waveland firms for the brochure.

Astronaut notes:

NSTL is important to shuttle

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Astronaut John (Mike) Lounge of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was the key speaker at the Annual Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Banquet held Friday night at Diamondhead.

A graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, he spent nine years in the Navy in a variety of assignments.

The astronaut, who is scheduled for an orbital flight in 1984, joined NASA in 1978 at the Lyndon B. Johnson Space Center in Houston, Tex. as a lead engineer for the integration of spin-stabilized upper stage payloads in future Space Shuttle flights and also served as a member of the Skylab Reentry Flight Control Team.

Lounge was selected as an astronaut in May 1980, and in August 1981, he completed a one-year training and evaluation to be eligible for assignment as a mission specialist on future Space Shuttle flights.

Lounge and his wife, the former Kathryn (Kitty) Havens, arrived at Diamondhead's airport at noon Friday in their Grumman Tiger—they both are pilots.

Lounge's wife is an employee of NASA, as she is a payload operations controller in the Flight Operations Directorate's Systems Division at the Johnson Space Center.

Lounge explained America's current progress in Space Shuttle operations and things to be expected in the future.

The native of Colorado narrated while showing a film of the last shuttle launch and recovery. He said it was only two weeks old and had only seen it one time.

Lounge stated in a press conference prior to the banquet, "The work being done at NSTL is critical and important to the space program. They test and fine-tune the engines and this is absolutely essential for the shuttle flights."

Lounge, who was introduced by Jerry Hlass, manager of NSTL, toured the Hancock County facility Friday evening.

He viewed the Space Shuttle Complex, and the Earth Resources Laboratory at NSTL.

During the press conference the astronaut said he is now doing a support role in 'anyway needed' for the astronauts now making the flights.

Training now for a flight takes at least four years Lounge stated, adding the astronauts now flying have been in the program since the 1960's.

There are eight women in the select group of 78 American astronauts.

The first woman is scheduled for flight in April 1983. The majority of men participating in the program are former military and the women are all PhD's and heavy in academics, he allowed.

When asked when did he decide to become an astronaut, he said, "This is something you plan for a long time. I spent nine years in the Navy's space program as I got assigned to it, to get the experience."

Lounge's wife, who is very involved in her husband's occupation said, "To be an astronaut is something you almost have to think of when in high school."

On the possibility of UFO's the astronaut commented, "I don't think they exist, we are by ourselves in this corner of space. It is probable they may exist in other parts of space and I would like very much to make contact with a being of intelligence from another world, if they would exist."

In comparing America's space progress, Lounge said the Russians do not have anything like we do in the space shuttle. He does feel they are further advanced in the space stations.

He did add, "America could be further ahead of Russia in the space stations, if we had not moved to the shuttle program."

Lounge stated, "Some of the things Russia is doing is a bit 'scary', I do feel the commercial aspects of the American programs is very important for the future."

When questioned on whether America would drop the space programs, he commented, "It is important to continue going outward, if you stop, you start collapsing inward."

A question from the floor was directed to Lounge after his presentation on the possibility of placing atomic waste in space. His comments were, "I think we will be doing that in the future, but very good containers would be needed to take it up and place the waste where it will not return. Getting it up is a very critical part of the job."

Sheriff recovering many stolen items

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County Sheriff's Department deputies are continuing to recover thousands of dollars in stolen items after the arrest of two men Thursday morning.

Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson reported Friday that Robert Tanguis of BaySide Park and Charles R. Allen Jr. of the corner of Forrest and Second Streets in Clermont Harbor, are both 27, in Hancock Jail in Bay St. Louis in lieu of $20,000 bond each and probably facing an accumulating number of burglary and sale of stolen property charges.

The two were arrested by Hancock Investigators Delbert Seay and Alvin Ladner after an intensive four-week probe of a rash of county burglaries including the theft of several outboard boat motors, Peterson said.

Seay Saturday speculated based on the amount and type of items being recovered that the combined total value could rise to $20,000.

Three Bay men nabbed in burglaries, robbery

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Three Bay St. Louis men are charged with various offenses stemming from several recent burglaries and a robbery in that city.

Chief Douglas Williams of the Bay Police Department late Saturday afternoon revealed Michael Kimmel, 18, of Twin Oaks Trailer Park is in Hancock County Jail in Bay St. Louis in lieu of $30,000 bond.

Kimmel is charged in a Dec. 2 burglary of the Bay Junior High School cafeteria where four stereo speakers and food was stolen; Wednesday heist at the Landmark Restaurant where cigarettes and money was taken and vending machines were damaged; Thursday burglary at Quality Drugs where 1,000 valium pills of various strength were stolen; and an Oct. 17 robbery of $680 from a Cheepers Fried Chicken employee attempting to make a night deposit at Gulf National Bank, Williams listed.

The chief said Kimmel is also charged with malicious mischief resulting from the vandalism of the Landmark machines.

Williams said two of the speakers and 68 packs of cigarettes were recovered in Kimmel's arrest Thursday.

Arrested Friday night and also charged in the drug store theft and as an accessory in the Cheepers robbery, but released on $15,000 bond is Edward Sofra, 23, of 304.5 South Second St., the chief revealed.

Also in jail, but in lieu of $5,000 bond is William J. Gillespie, 18, of the trailer park who is charged in the Landmark incident with burglary, Williams said.

All three arrested are scheduled for a Wednesday preliminary hearing in City Court at 7 p.m., the chief noted.

More arrests are expected in the department's continuing probe headed by Investigator Murray Ladner, Williams added.

RUNAWAYS CAUGHT

Williams also reported two juveniles listed as runaways from St. Bernard Parish, La. were apprehended at about 8 p.m. Thursday by Bay Patrolmen Bob Butler and Tom Pustay for allegedly breaking and entering a Dunbar Street home.

The youths were turned over to St. Bernard authorities and returned to that parish, Williams added.

Port body takes first steps toward apron construction

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission Thursday took its first major steps toward constructing a new airplane apron at Stennis International Airport.

At a meeting in commission offices on Hwy. 603 in Waveland, commissioners finalized a contract hiring Advanced Development Inc. as engineers for the project at a cost of $24,900, payable in phases until the project is completed.

A special fund to handle a $200,000 grant from the Federal Aviation Administration for the project was also established.

Construction of the new apron, to be some 300 by 450 feet, is scheduled to begin in April.

Executive Director W. Wilson Wehre said Friday that soil tests are expected to be conducted in December with preliminary design plans completed in January.

Advertising for bids is scheduled for February with bid openings in March. Final approval from FAA is expected to take another month and push construction into April.

The commission will meet again Dec. 30.

Wehre, who will put in his last day of work Jan. 14, expects his replacement will be chosen at the next meeting.

MILITARY MENTIONS

PVT. BRADLEY

Army Pvt. Ira L. Bradley Jr., son of Alice C. and Ira L. Bradley, of Route 3, Pass Christian, has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

He is a 1982 graduate of Pass Christian High School.

AIRMAN ELLIOTT

Airman Sharon D. Elliott, daughter of Bert W. and Pauline J. Elliott of 208 Pine St., Pass Christian, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the computer systems field.

Elliott received an associate degree in 1982 from Phillips College, Gulfport.

SEAMAN CONWAY

Navy Seaman Recruit Leonard J. Conway, son of Earl T. and Mary L. Conway of 393 Morton Ave. in Pass Christian, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center in San Diego, Calif.

During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields, a Navy spokesman says.

Included in their studies were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene, the spokesman adds.

SGT. GEORGE

Tech. Sgt. Robert N. George, son of Maurice A. George and Lillie M. George of 38 N. Church St., Fogselle, Pa., has been named outstanding non-commissioned officer of the quarter for the 204th Communications Squadron at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

The sergeant was selected for professional skill, duty performance and exemplary behavior.

George, a communications computer technician, is a 1984 graduate of Parkland High School, Orefield, Pa.

His wife, Janice, is the daughter of Marion and Aline Beal of 127 Railroad Ave., Bay St. Louis.

ETV Brief

The third program in the six-part mini-series, The Discovery of Animal Behavior, seen weekly on public television's Nature Series aired Sundays at 8 p.m. on ch. 19 and Hancock Cable's ch. 13, focuses on the efforts of naturalists and zoologists, starting with Charles Darwin in 1848, to delve into the mysteries of the animal mind.

Utilizing dramatized reenactments and superb wildlife photography, the program highlights the events which eventually led to the publication of Darwin's landmark theory on evolution, The Origin of Species, in 1859.

Although evolution was not a new idea, Darwin's achievement was to suggest a plausible process for the continuous development of species, a process he called "natural selection."

He urged any victim of a recent theft to contact the sheriff's department because, due to the variety and number of items, it's a good chance they may have the stolen property.

Included in the stolen items are water pumps and tanks, televisions, radios, large and small tools, outboard motors, a tent, an electric blanket, stereo speakers, rods and reels, boat fuel tanks, kitchen appliances and much, much more.

Peterson said most of the thefts occurred at summer residences in the Clermont Harbor, Lakeshore and Shoreline Park areas.

He reported the investigation primarily indicates Tanguis stole the items and Allen sold them to various individuals in Harrison and Hancock Counties.

"They (Tanguis and Allen) are cooperating with us and told us who they sold the stuff to," Peterson stated. "We feel like we will solve burglaries which occurred here during the last six weeks," the sheriff said.

Peterson noted Tanguis two weeks ago was charged with two counts of burglary—and at least six more theft charges will be filed against him.

"We are still recovering property and they could be charged with additional counts," he stated.

The sheriff said Allen is presently charged with one count of burglary, but the number of receiving and selling stolen property charges have not been finalized.

Peterson said Tanguis was first nabbed after a Lakeshore homeowner found the suspect allegedly in the process of stealing items from the residence.

Ladner, Seay and Deputy Dennis Tardavouille are continuing the investigation and recovery of stolen items, the sheriff reported.

Allen and Tanguis are scheduled for a Jan. 5 preliminary hearing at 6 p.m. before Justice Court Judge Lee Klein.

A good time was enjoyed by all who attended the Annual Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Annual Banquet held at Diamondhead Friday.

It was good to have an astronaut as the guest speaker since NSTL's location in Hancock County is so involved in the U.S. Space Program.

The chamber's staff should be commended on their efforts of bringing together such a fine program.

We have never met a nicer person than Astronaut John (Mike) Lounge, who was a great person to interview. His wife Kitty, who is also involved in the Space Program with NASA, also is well voiced in America's space explorations.

We will be looking forward to Mike's space flight sometime in 1984.

We wish to congratulate Bob Hamilton on his recent retirement from Hancock Bank.

Bob seems to have been at the Bay bank forever, or at least as long as we can remember.

In the years ahead, and we hope there will be many, we hope Bob will be able to do those things he always wanted, but didn't have time to.

We know many folks will miss Bob's smiling face at the bank, but he has earned his retirement.

Enjoy yourself, Bob.

The annual City of Bay St. Louis Christmas tree lighting and visit of Santa through the cooperation of Mayor and Mrs. Larry Bennett will be held Wednesday, Dec. 15 at 6 p.m.

As a normal tradition, Santa will have candy for the children, and they are asked to bring a personal ornament for the tree with their name on to place on the City Hall Christmas Tree.

The big event will take place at the Bay St. Louis City Hall, South Second Street, Bay St. Louis.

We hope to see you with Santa.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson is having a space problem in his office with the breaking of a burglary ring in Hancock County.

His office on Saturday morning was filled with miscellaneous merchandise his department has been collecting for three days with more recoveries to be made.

A lot of the items recovered have been reported in recent burglaries, with others still needing to be identified by owners.

If you have had a recent burglary of some items and never reported it to police, it is possible it may have been recovered.

It would be good to call the sheriff's office and tell them what you are missing.

Among the items recovered includes; lawnmowers, toasters, heaters, water pumps and tanks, black and white, and also color television sets, gallons of paint, outboard motors, gas tanks, rugs, carpentry tools, pipe fittings, lighting fixtures, and on and on.

The thing which still has us wondering is how can a person purchase and stolen item for only a fraction of the value and not be charged with possession of stolen property.

It seems our state legislators should take a serious look into this matter.

Our longtime friend Mrs. May Beyer was all smiles Friday night when she was selected as Hancock County's Outstanding Citizen.

We have known Mrs. Beyer for many years and have also worked with her on many United Way fund drives and can think of no other person more deserving of the award.

We know she is proud, as well as her children, grandchildren and so many friends.

CRIME PREVENTION—The Bay St. Louis Police Department Thursday initiated a program for small businesses to fight crime and also a Neighborhood Watch similar to one offered by the New Orleans Police Department. Among Bay police officers in the program are, from right, Chief Douglas Williams, Jim Clark and Bob Weiz. This program was one of many scheduled for the community, Williams said. Drunk and Drugged Driving Week designated by U.S. Congress

The week of Dec. 12-18, has been designated by a joint resolution of Congress as "National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week," Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said.

In sponsoring the congressional resolution, representative Michael D. Barnes (D-MD) and James V. Hansen (R-UT) stated that "it will help mobilize the nation's leaders at all levels of government, including the President, members of Congress, governors, mayors, and other local officials, in cooperation with private and volunteer groups—to alert the American public during the festive Holiday Season to the lethal dangers of combining alcohol, drugs, and driving."

Why such a resolution and commemoration? —Over 50,000 Americans are killed each year in transportation accidents;

—63 percent vehicular fatalities in 1981 had an incident of alcohol;

—75 percent of one car, one driver accidents, the driver was drunk;

—Drunk driving cost society $5 billion to $25 billion a year, exclusive of human suffering;

—Increasing number of accidents in the United States are drug related;

—6,000 teenagers lost their lives last year in alcohol related accidents.

"While the impact of alcohol abuse on driving is well documented, we feel that the real problem of drugs on the highway has been grossly underestimated and neglected," Peterson added.

"There is no way of determining how many citizens drive while taking medication which adversely affects driving skills. How many mix alcohol and drugs?" the sheriff questioned.

"We urge citizen awareness concerning alcohol and other drugs, and abstinence from driving should skills be possibly impaired," Peterson emphasized.

"Of course, the trauma of death is always startling. But of even greater significance and pain is that each day, an average of 300 teenagers are injured in alcohol related accidents, with a quarter of a million Americans having been killed in alcohol related accidents during the past decade," the sheriff warned.

Holidays to be different for families who lost loved ones in alcohol-related accidents

Dec. 8, 1982

Letter to the Editor:

As the Christmas season draws near let us be mindful of those families who will be celebrating the holiday differently this year due to the loss of a loved one, be it a mom, dad, sister, brother, husband or wife.

There are two families very dear to me whom I will be praying for during this time.

One family lost a young son, the other lost a wife, the mother of two young boys.

My heart goes out to them — you see, neither one of the deceased was ill, so their deaths were quite unexpected.

Could the deaths have been avoided? Possibly, if alcohol had not had been a contributing factor. I think it's time we do something about the drunk drivers on our highways.

I personally urge each of you to take a moment to pray for the families you may know who have lost a loved one for that reason, and please don't forget to pray for the driver who may have caused the deaths.

Then I challenge you to write your state representative and urge them to support the proposed tougher laws against the drunk drivers.

We may not be able to help those who have already experienced a loss, but we can help keep other senseless deaths from happening.

Pick up a pen and paper and write to—day, our loved ones' lives are at stake.

Respectfully, I am
Mrs. Donna C. Gibson

VO-TECH EXPANSION

Mississippi should give priority to the improvement and expansion of its vocational-technical education system, the Mississippi Economic Council has said in a new report following a six-month study.

The report follows a four-state survey of vocational-technical training programs. Vo-tech programs were surveyed in Tennessee, Alabama, North Carolina, and Mississippi. The Mississippi survey included the highly successful Tupelo National Model for Technical Career Development.

The report, following a study directed by Tupelo hospital administrator John Robbins, makes recommendations as to how Mississippi could enhance its vocational-technical training programs and thereby make them more responsive to the needs of potential workers and business.

"Mississippi should give priority to the improvement and expansion of its vocational-technical education system as essential to economic development. The Legislature should provide adequate funding of the state's vocational-technical education system in order to assure effective training and skill development," the report says.

The Council said that roles of secondary and junior college programs should be specified, "with consideration given to emphasis on basic education and occupational orientation at the secondary level and advanced vocational-technical education and adult education at the junior college level."

The report also recommended: —Vocational-technical administration require business/industry needs surveys for existing programs and for any new vo-tech training programs.

—Initiation of an active information program to familiarize Mississippians with vocational education programs to build confidence in the vocational education system.

—Advisory committees of business and industrial representatives be retained for every vocational education program, and the governing board of the state system require effective evaluation of all programs and effective utilization of advisory committees.

—The state offer or encourage the offering at the local level of professional development for vocational education instructors, even providing incentives for such training to assure the continued strengthening of such facilities.

Administration of the state's vocational-technical training program will be changing by 1984. The recently established Board of Vocational and Technical Education will become an advisory board as a result of the passage of the lay state board of education amendment on November 2.

The report notes that nearly 40 percent of Mississippi's vo-tech students are enrolled in either home economics or vocational agriculture. And while some 27 percent are enrolled in trades and industry courses, less than 2 percent are enrolled in technical education.

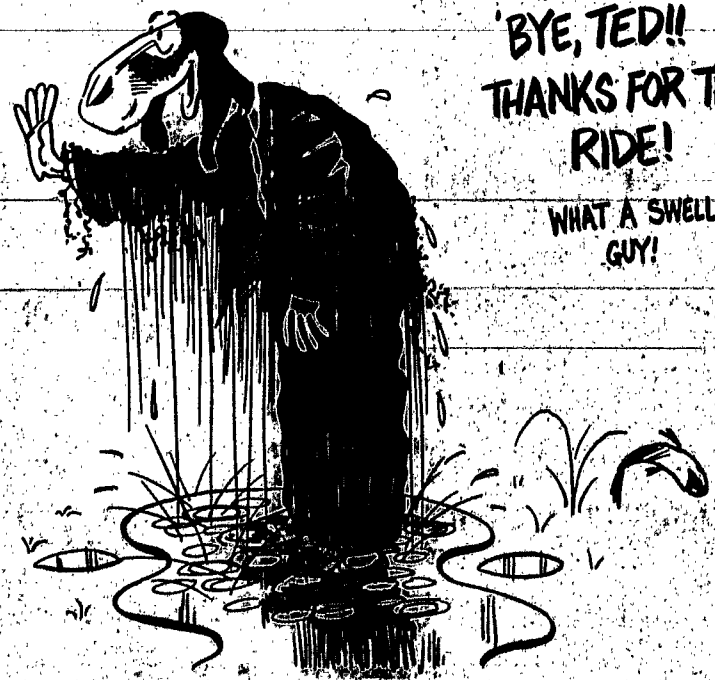

Further, the report noted that while other states place emphasis of vocational-technical training at the adult education level, Mississippi places most of its vo-tech training in the high schools.

New federal research program to generate small firm contracts

A new federal small business research program is described as holding out the promise of an increase in new products and technologies coming from the nation's work places and laboratories.

The program is the Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) Program. It requires that federal agencies direct more research and development work to small high-technology firms, many of which are headquartered in the South Mississippi area.

"Most of our new ideas, new products and new technologies in this century have originated with small companies," Mike Shelton, the Small Business Administration's Biloxi Branch manager, said.

"Therefore, it is logical to assume that under the new law, qualified small hi-tech firms will be doing a greater share of federal research and development and in the long run will come up with an increased number of new ideas. These ideas will be used not only by the government but in the private marketplace."

In signing the Small Business Innovation Research Act last July 22, President Reagan said, "Our nation is blessed with two important qualities that often are missing in other societies: our spirit of entrepreneurship and our capacity of invention and innovation. These two elements are combined today in the small businesses that guide our land."

Shelton also said, "SBIR also holds out the promise of creating more jobs. Under a prototype SBIR program managed by the National Science Foundation since 1977, employment in small firms completing NSF awards increased 125 percent—a sure sign that our new government-wide SBIR will pay handsome dividends."

Under the SBIR program, federal agencies with external research and development budgets of more than $20 million annually must establish small business R&D goals. These goals must at least equal small business R&D awards made last year.

In addition, agencies with annual external R&D budgets of more than $100 million must establish SBIR programs.

There are 10 such agencies—Defense, Health and Human Services, Energy, Interior, Agriculture, Transportation, Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Environmental Protection Agency, National Science Foundation and National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The nine civilian agencies in the group must set aside, for small businesses, two-tenths of one percent of their outside R&D budget in Fiscal 1983, with the set-aside total rising to 1.25 percent in Fiscal 1987. Defense must set aside one-tenth of one percent of its outside budget in 1983 and has five years in which to reach the 1.25 percent total.

"Our estimates," Shelton said, "show that in Fiscal 1983, the year that began last October 1, nearly $45 million in SBIR R&D funds will go to small firms. In 1986, this range is estimated to be between $250 million and $400 million and in Fiscal 1987, when the Act becomes fully effective, between $275 million and $450 million."

SBA, which recently issued program policy directives, will monitor and report to Congress on the program. At least once a year, SBA will publish a master schedule outlining when solicitations will be made by the 10 large agencies and where information is available. The master list, in short, will be a score sheet on when and who to contact.

Copies of solicitations will come from individual agencies. Interested small firms must get specific solicitations data from the agencies and send responses to the appropriate agency.

The R&D awards will be made in two phases: —In Phase I, agencies will award about $50,000 for each selected idea submitted by a small firm.

—In Phase II, a second funding—of about $500,000 will be made for ideas holding out the greatest promise.

After this, private sector investment and support will be sought by the small firm, so its innovative idea can be brought to the private market.

"A basic purpose of the Act," Shelton said, "is to strengthen the role of small innovative companies in federally-funded research and development. The Act will also convert the research results from small science and high-technology firms into commercial applications."

"Small businesses, of course, will benefit from the Act. But of greater significance will be the potential benefits for the government and the country," he added.

"As President Reagan said in signing the legislation, 'Small business is a tonic for what ails this country. By passing and signing this Act, we're showing our resolve to unleash this most innovative sector.'"

Responsible drinking urged in upcoming holiday season

Backed by the heads of all municipalities, parishes, and governmental districts, the Committee on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse for Greater New Orleans, a United Way Agency, is launching a "Save the Holidays" project to urge moderate and responsible drinking during the Holiday Season—Thanksgiving to New Year's Day.

Why? Last year 63 percent of transportation fatalities had an incidence of alcohol; 6,000 teenagers were killed in auto/alcohol-related accidents; one-third of all suicides were alcohol related; 49 percent of suicide victims were drunk at time of death; 80 percent of all injuries had alcohol involved; in 75 percent of one-car, one-driver fatalities, the driver was drunk; alcohol is involved in almost half of criminal acts; alcoholism affects well over 10.5 million Americans; $10.4 billion was lost last year in American industry due to alcohol abuse and alcoholism; and it's the holiday season.

"We are not against drinking," says Dr. Emmett W. Bashful, president of CADA. "We are trying to tell people to make sure they enjoy the holiday season with all of its parties, family get-togethers, gift swapping, and merriment. For this reason, we urge responsible and safe drinking, and in particular not to drive if one is drinking, and in particular not to drive if one is drinking. An accident, injury, crippling condition, or even death could occur, taking all the joy and happiness from the holiday season," he notes.

"Further, we are urging folks not to push drinks on anyone, lest the person be harmed because of medication, or be prone to excessive drinking because of alcoholism," Bashful adds.

A holiday guide for insuring a safe and merry season includes:

—Eat before drinking;

—Know your limits; if you drink;

—Don't be afraid to say "No" if you don't want to drink;

—If someone is drunk, remember coffee, cold showers, and walking do not sober. Only time can sober someone;

—Don't drink if on medication without checking it out with your physician;

—If hosting a party, have non-alcoholic beverages available for those who do not wish to drink, or who can't drink;

—Don't let a friend drive home when drunk;

—If you drink, don't drive. Let someone else drive or take a cab;

—Don't push a drink on anyone—the person could be on medication or be an alcoholic;

—If you can't drink, don't. Abstaining from alcohol is the only successful way for an alcoholic to stay sober.

Money Talk

By Norine Barnes

MACAP (Major Appliance Consumer Action Panel) advises you to request a receipt for all service calls and repairs made on your appliances, even when no charge is involved. You should also maintain a permanent file of both in-warranty and out-of-warranty receipts for as long as you own the appliance.

A complete record of service calls can register whether or not an identical problem has occurred. Consumers often complain to MACAP of appliance problems "ever since purchase," and especially during the warranty period. Lack of proof that a problem did exist during the warranty weakens a consumer's position for consideration later.

Consumer's Problem: "Two months ago, a defrost timer was replaced in my 11-month-old refrigerator under the terms of the one-year warranty. The cost of travel, labor, diagnosis and the part were covered under warranty. Since I paid nothing, it never occurred to me to ask for a receipt. Now the refrigerator is 13 months old, and a service technician tells me another defrost timer is needed. The warranty has expired, and I must pay for travel and diagnosis and another timer. I feel this is unfair because a similar problem was corrected only two months ago under warranty. What can I do?"

By asking for receipts for in-warranty service calls at the time service is performed, consumers are able to document recurring problems and can then be more likely to receive help if future problems occur after the warranty expires.

Be sure to file receipts in your home filing system so they can be found.

MACAP Recommendation: Since the original defrost timer was replaced only two months ago, call the service agency and ask for a receipt itemizing service provided. If you obtain the receipt and the service agency denies your request for special consideration, or if the agency won't provide a receipt, write the manufacturer.

His address is usually in the appliance's use and care manual. Give your name and address; the name, address, and telephone number of the service agency; the date(s) of service; purchase date, model, and serial numbers and purchase price of the appliance. Manufacturers often keep records of in-warranty service and may be willing to give your problem special consideration.

MACAP has recommended that the appliance industry provide receipts for all service calls, including those performed in-warranty. Many companies will consider handling problems which occur shortly after warranty expiration on an in-warranty basis if proof of an identical in-warranty problem exists.

Two charged in parole violations

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Four Bay St. Louis residents were arrested Friday night for alleged possession of marijuana and two of those individuals are additionally charged with parole violations, Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said Saturday.

Peterson said, "A search warrant was issued by Justice Court Judge John Chevris for a residence at 105 St. Charles St. in Bay St. Louis after a two week surveillance."

"Arrested at the residence for the alleged possession of marijuana were Nathan Baye, 26; Charles Johnson, 33; Rodney Signorelli, 30; and Catherine Hampton. Signorelli faces additional charges of possession of a sawed-off shotgun and possession of a deadly weapon after a felony conviction. Baye and Johnson have additional charges of parole violations," Peterson added.

Baye and Johnson are lodged in the Hancock County Jail with Signorelli out on a $1,000 bond and Hampton out on a $250 bond, Peterson said.

A preliminary hearing for the three is scheduled before Chevris for all four persons.

Items recovered in the search include more than one ounce of marijuana, some pills which are being sent to the Mississippi Gulf Coast Crime Lab for analyzing, a .44 magnum, a .380 handgun, and a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun, Peterson stated.

The arrests were made by Hancock County Investigator Alvin Ladner, Hancock Deputy Stanley Hamilton with assistance from the Bay St. Louis Police Department.

Peterson said Ladner is in charge of the case.

Requests for Score counseling from existing businesses remains high

The recession has not reduced the volume of business counseling in 1982 by the Service Corps of Retired Executives, according to outgoing SCORE Chairman Frank Bryan of Ocean Springs.

Speaking at the group's annual dinner meeting at Admiral Benbow Inn this month, Bryan reported, "the counseling workload was at a high for recent years. However, the types of problems have changed. Instead of people wanting to go into business there were more requests from businessmen on cash flow, cost control, selling and other management problems."

SCORE Chairman Frank Bryan commended the volunteer executives for their outstanding help to the business community through counseling and workshops.

Amos Crouch of the Small Business Administration presented certificate awards to Frank Bryan of Ocean Springs and Robert Driegert of Long Beach.

Stone M. Smith of Biloxi will be the new chairman. Other officers will be Fritz G. Lindley of Gulfport, vice chairman; Jack Wolsieffer of Long Beach, treasurer; and Mark von Redlich of Ocean Springs, secretary.

Smith stated that "for more than a decade the South Mississippi Chapter has served the business community in an eleven county area."

"More than 6,000 hours of highly skilled counseling has been provided when requested."

Many successful new businesses have been brought into existence and many existing businesses were helped to avoid serious management mistakes as a result of SCORE assistance."

He also stated that counseling is both confidential and free and is usually held at the place of business. It is the only volunteer service of this type.

Smith pointed out that SCORE has grown into a national organization of some 365 chapters with 9,000 members. Although they work closely with and are sponsored by the Small Business Administration, it is not required that a business have an SBA loan to avail themselves of SCORE services.

Sidney F. Wogan of Ocean Springs, workshop chairman, stated that besides the person-to-person counseling, the local chapter has plans in 1983 for sponsoring five or more training seminars.

They will be mainly held along the Coast. They are based on the business experience of the members and cover such subjects as advertising, commercial law, recordkeeping, effective selling, starting a new business and other management-related subjects.

"Looking forward to what may be another difficult year,

SCORE members will continue to play an important part in the small business person's world when, today, business failure are numerous and economic conditions inhibit establishing new businesses or expanding old enterprises. The experience and know-how of SCORE volunteer executives will be available throughout 1983," Smith emphasized.

SCORE CHAIRMAN—Larry Abrams, left, of Diamondhead, former chairman of the Service Corps of Retired Executives, congratulates Stone M. Smith of Biloxi on his installation as 1983 chairman of SCORE's Gulf Coast chapter.

IMMIGRATION
BILL UNSOUND

A lot of American farmers are unhappy with rumblings from Washington over provisions of an immigration reform bill now before the U.S. Congress which would add the burden of enforcement to farmers' shoulders.

House Resolution 6514, known as the Immigration Reform and Control Act, will be taken up during the "lame duck" session, and has farmers flocking to their Congressmen asking that it be deferred or rejected because it puts new burdens of record-keeping and red tape on employers.

Fruit and vegetable farmers are significant employers of immigrant and migrant laborers—particularly along the border between the United States and Mexico.

Farmers, like a lot of other people in the U.S., realize that steps need to be taken to gain better control over the flow of illegal aliens into this country. In fact, they feel strongly that a lid needs to be placed on the numbers of immigrants and refugees permitted to enter the United States in search of jobs and improved lifestyles.

But they know that they do not as farmers have access to records that would keep them in compliance with the proposed law, and they have doubts that the U.S. Immigration Service has such data either.

Requiring farmer employers to check on the citizenship status of prospective employees puts such employers in a position of being law enforcers without either the knowledge or authority to do that kind of work.

The American Farm Bureau Federation is advising Congress that H.R. 6514 does not provide the opportunity for a workable, effective guest worker program, and consequently the present Department of Labor rules would continue to be enforced.

A form would have to be filled out in each instance with the required information, signed by the applicant and employer, and kept on file for three years.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." — John 10:10

By Shawn Murphy

For the better part of 1982 I have been writing about the 'abundant life' that is found only in the Son of God, Jesus Christ. And yet, to my discredit, I have never specified how one comes into Christ in order to have forgiveness of sins and thus initiate the 'abundant life' process.

In the interest of being totally ecumenical, and convinced that God would not confuse the issue of salvation, I will simply quote the scriptures as they are written, without embellishment from my own opinions.

Let each man interpret these passages with a clear conscience as he stands before God.

Our approach this morning will be to look quickly at the conversions in the Book of Acts. Let me urge you to spend much time studying these examples with prayer and meditation on your own. It is my prayer that God will bless you with a right understanding of how to become a saved individual.

The first conversions took place on the day of Pentecost. After hearing preaching on the death, burial and resurrection of Jesus Christ the people were cut to the heart by the message and asked, "Brothers, what shall we do?" Peter replied, "Repent and be baptized, every one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ so that your sins may be forgiven. And you will receive the Holy Spirit." (Acts 2:37, 38)

Next, we find the conversion of Simon the Sorcerer in Acts 8:12, 13.

Notice the message and note the response to that message. "But when they believed Philip as he preached the good news of the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women. Simon himself believed and was baptized."

In the very same chapter we find the conversion of a man from Ethiopia. Sitting in his chariot he was reading the Old Testament scriptures, specifically the book of Isaiah.

Phillip, a Christian, came by and explained to him that this person he was reading about was Jesus Christ.

Again notice the message and the note the response to that message. "Then Phillip began with that very passage of Scripture and told him the good news about Jesus. As they traveled along the road, they came to some water and the eunuch said, 'Look, here is water. Why shouldn't I be baptized? And he ordered the chariot to stop. Then both Phillip and the eunuch went down into the water and Phillip baptized him.' (Acts 8:35-38)

Acts chapter 10 tells of the conversion of Cornelius and his household. In order to show Peter that he is no respecter of persons God gives these Gentiles the miraculous gift of the Holy Spirit.

And in Acts 10:47, 48 he says, "Can anyone keep these people from being baptized with water? They have received the Holy Spirit just as we have." "So he ordered that they be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ."

Acts sixteen contains yet two more examples of conversions. The first is that of Lydia. After hearing the good news of Jesus we read, "The Lord opened her heart to respond to Paul's message. When she and the members of her household were baptized, she invited us to her home." (Acts 16:14, 15)

The second conversion in the same chapter was that of the jailer. In Acts 16:29-34 he asks, "Men, what must I do to be saved?"

They replied, "Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved — you and your household....at that hour of the night the jailer took them and washed their wounds, then immediately he and all his family were baptized."

Finally in Acts 22:16 we hear the specific command given to Saul of Tarsus who had met Jesus Christ on the road to Damascus. Notice his instructions, "And now what are you waiting for? Get up, be baptized and wash your sins away, calling on His name."

Well, there you have it. A solid cross-section of the examples of conversion to be found in the New Testament.

Are you convinced Jesus Christ is the Son of God? Are you ready to accept Him as Lord (Master) and Savior of your life?

"And now what are you waiting for? Get up, be baptized and wash your sins away, calling on His name."

May the Lord bless you and your household this Christmas with peace from above!

CHANGING SOUTH

"The sense of family, the sense of the region, the sense of religion are all very deeply imbued in the Southerner," says William Ferris, director of the Center for the Study of Southern Culture.

Ferris joins Firing Line host William F. Buckley Jr. and two professors from the University of Mississippi who also serve the Southern culture center, Steven Millner and James C. Cobb, to answer the query: "Is the South Changing?"

The Firing Line program, taped through the facilities of public television station WDCN in Nashville, airs at 9 p.m., Friday, Dec. 17, on the Mississippi ETV Network, Channel 19 or Channel 13, Hancock Cable.

The purpose of the Center for the Study of Southern Culture, according to Ferris, "is to focus on the future with the sense that, particularly in the South, the past is an ever-present part of what we do."

Christmas is love, hope and caring.

At The Salvation Army Christmas means "sharing."

Clermont Handcrafters enjoy Christmas social

Miss Beverly Praetorius was installed president of the Clermont Handcrafters Club when the group met Dec. 2 at Landmark Restaurant for the annual Christmas luncheon and party.

Other officers installed were Mrs. Eunice Murray, vice president; Mrs. Maurice Shea, secretary; and Mrs. J.C. Goodloe, treasurer.

Mrs. A.M. Thomas, installing officer, presented each of the ladies a Christmas corsage as they took the oath of office.

Outgoing president, Mrs. Robert Taconi, presiding at a brief business meeting, introduced two guests, Mesdames William H. Bradford and William Jackson, and welcomed them to join in the festivities. Mrs. Taconi thanked the members for their support and cooperation during her two year tenure as president.

Thanking the outgoing officers on behalf of the Handcrafters for an outstanding job the past two years, Mrs. Charles Dickson, past president, also presented them with identical Christmas corsages.

Following the luncheon, games were played with lovely handcrafted prizes awarded the winners, Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Viya Smith, who also won the door prize. Each member received a handcrafted ceramic tree ornament as a party favor.

Chairladies for the annual Christmas affair were Mrs. William Hero and Mrs. Davis Caillier.

Next business will be Jan. 6.

Children's Christmas Chihuahua puppy lost

Rocky, a nine-week-old brown, black and white male Chihuahua puppy was lost from in front of his home at 212A Main St. in Bay St. Louis about 7 p.m. Thursday.

The children who lost Rocky are particularly distressed as the puppy is their special Christmas present from Santa.

Rocky was wearing a flea collar and a green collar with a bell when lost.

The owners are offering a reward for his return.

Anyone with information on the puppy's whereabouts is asked to call Eunice Bermond at 467-7396 or 467-5265.

Secrests celebrate silver anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Secrest of 117 deMontluzin, formerly from Ohio, were honored recently on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary with a surprise party.

Relatives and friends attended the celebration which was hosted by the couple's daughter and son-in-law, Dave and Patti Schlosser.

A small dinner was served followed by refreshments and an anniversary cake was made by Mrs. Lorraine Lafontaine. The honorees received numerous gifts and cards.

The former Patricia A. Parrott and Mr. Secrest were married on November 30, 1957, in Salem, Ohio, by the late Rev. Harold Winn.

Mr. Secrest is a self-employed contractor and owner of Crest Custom Builders of Bay St. Louis.

The Secrests are parents of Mrs. Patti Schlosser of Bay St. Louis; Mrs. Marcy Johnson of Salem, Ohio and Miss Sue Secrest of Wiona, Ohio.

Pearlington Branch THE MORMONS Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints

Local Mormon missionaries, Elders Neal S. Ross and Mark J. Robbins, addressed the congregation of the Pearlington Branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormons) during the unit's Nov. 23 regularly scheduled sacrament meeting.

Elder Ross spoke on overcoming Satan's most-used tool — discouragement.

He said that it is when we get discouraged that we cannot accomplish the things that the Lord wants us to do.

"We need opposition in all things," Ross said. "It is through this opposition that we learn and grow. We all have lows and highs in spirituality. For example, Noah was a missionary who labored 300 years preaching the gospel to the people. He had great cause to be discouraged — all those he tried to teach were drowned."

He added, "If we remain prayerful and close to our Heavenly Father, we can overcome discouragement."

Ross explained that we should remember, too, that we are very blessed to be living here in America — a land of freedom.

After stating that we can also combat discouragement by taking a look at the examples of our leaders, Ross quoted, "When you are down in the mouth, remember John — he came out all right!"

He reminded his listeners that the gospel is still true no matter what we have to go through.

Ross then read from Ephesians 6:11 explaining that we have this promise from the Lord that when we take upon us "the whole armor of God" we will have the blessings to overcome discouragement.

To conclude his speech he said, "If we find ourselves doing the things that we know we should do...then we know that we will be alright; we will still come out on top!"

For his part on the program, Elder Robbins read an article, entitled "Giving With Joy" by Henry B. Eyring, from the December 1982 issue of the Church's Ensign magazine.

"The article said, in part, 'I've always had a daydream of being a great gift-giver. I can picture someone opening my gift with tears of joy and a smile, showing that the giving, not just the gift, had touched a heart. Many are likely already experts in gift-giving. But even the experts may share some of my curiosity about what makes a gift great.'"

Eyring's article further explained that the three parts of the giving and receiving of a great gift are:

First, an understanding and caring by the giver of the needs and feelings of the receiver.

Second, the gift is free — "not given to compel a response..."

And third, there is an "element of sacrifice. Anyone can feel deprived as they sacrifice, and then let the person who gets a gift know it. But only an expert can let you sense that his sacrifice brings him joy because it blesses you."

Robbins read on, "It won't be easy to use this theory to make great strides in our gift-giving this Christmas. It will take some practice. But we could at least start this Christmas being a good receiver. We have the power to make others great gift-givers by what we notice. We can make any gift better by what we choose to see — and Lord that when we take upon us "the whole armor of God" we will have the blessings to overcome discouragement, receiver." He then gave several examples to explain this point.

"I hope that each of us this Christmas season will be touched by the feelings of others and give freely without compulsion or expectation of gain. I hope we experience the joy of sacrifice, of giving something of ourselves. If we do so, we will learn this final lesson about giving — that those gifts are truly great which are given simply for the joy they bring to another heart."

Elder Ross is from Rosebud, Ark., and is the oldest of seven children. Prior to his mission call he served as a Sunday school teacher and as president of his seminary class. He has worked in the pulpwood industry and has done automobile body work to earn the funds necessary to sustain him on his mission. He has now completed 15 months of his scheduled 18-month mission term, having served in Albany, Zachery, and Baton Rouge, Louisiana, prior to his assignment to the Hancock County area.

Elder Robbins is from West Jordan, Utah, and is one of six children in his family. He served his church as a counselor in his teachers quorum at the age of 14, and later as a home teacher. To finance his mission, Robbins worked in a supermarket in his home town. He, too, is serving an 18-month mission; and he has completed 4 months in his call.

TV Brief

THREE SPECIALS

Three special programs—a ballet, a documentary and a drama—air Monday evening, Dec. 13, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

The powerful anti-war ballet "The Green Table" by German choreographer Kurt Jooss leads off the 1982-83 season of "Dance in America" on "Great Performances" at 8. "The Green Table" was first performed in 1932 and has been performed by the Joffrey Ballet for 15 consecutive years. The Joffrey Ballet also performs this television performance, taped in August at Opryland Studios in Nashville.

A documentary recounting the first two weeks of martial law in Poland can be seen at 9. "Poland: Two Weeks in Winter" also documents the extent of the resistance the Solidarity movement imposed on Poland's military authorities.

PUBLIC NOTICES

IN THE CHANCERY COURT OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

LOUIS M. MADUELL, LUCILLE MADUELL, GAMMONS, LOLA RITA LEGIER, MADUELL, LAVON RITA, CARSTENS, MADUELL, DENNIS, MADUELL, DAVID B. MADUELL, DIANE M. MADUELL, COMPLAINTANTS VERSUS E. J. COMAGIERE, et al. DEFENDANTS.

TO: (1) E. J. COMAGIERE, if alive, whose last known address is unknown; and if he be dead, his unknown heirs at law or legatees.

You have been made defendants in the lawsuit filed in this Court by Louis M. Maduelli, Lucille Maduelli, Gammons, Lola Rita Legier Maduelli, Lavon Rita Carstens Maduelli, Dennis M. Maduelli, David B. Maduelli and Diane M. Maduelli, Plaintiffs, whose address is in care of Gerald C. Gex, P. O. Box 128, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, 39320.

The Complaint filed against you has initiated a civil action alleging that Louis M. Maduelli, Lucille Maduelli, Gammons, Lola Rita Legier Maduelli, Lavon Rita Carstens Maduelli, Dennis M. Maduelli, David B. Maduelli and Diane M. Maduelli are the legal and equitable owners of the above described property by virtue of a bill of sale executed and signed by you on September 18, 1957, and by virtue of the fact that the said property was not redeemed from the tax sale within the period prescribed by law, and seeking confirmation of title to the above property against you, as Defendants.

You are required to mail or hand deliver a copy of a written answer either admitting or denying each allegation in the complaint to Gerald C. Gex, Complainant's attorney, whose address is P. O. Box 128, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, 39320.

YOUR ANSWER MUST BE MAILED OR DELIVERED NOT LATER THAN THIRTY DAYS AFTER DECEMBER 21, 1982, WHICH IS TWENTY-ONE DAYS FROM THE DATE OF THE FIRST PUBLICATION OF THIS SUMMARY. IF YOUR ANSWER IS NOT SO MAILED OR DELIVERED, A JUDGMENT BY DEFAULT MAY BE ENTERED AGAINST YOU FOR THE MONEY OR OTHER RELIEF DEMANDED IN THE COMPLAINT. You must also file the original of your answer with the Clerk of this Court within a reasonable time afterward.

WITNESS my signature, and official seal this 5th day of December, 1982. (SEAL)

Bay-Waveland Garden Club presents Christmas Flower Show

EDUCATIONAL EXHIBIT—Alice Brameyer entered this exhibit at a recent Bay-Waveland Garden Club Annual Christmas Flower Show. The numerous designs are inexpensive to make and fun too, Brameyer claims.

CENTER PIECE WINNER—The theme of this center piece is called 'It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas.' It was designed and made by Alice Holmes and was awarded the blue ribbon at the recent Bay-Waveland Garden Club's Annual Christmas Flower Show conducted in the J.D. Brameyer residence in Waveland.

THE HOLLY AND THE IVY—Is the theme of these Christmas wreaths designed and constructed by members of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club. The wreath, at top center, was made by Mary Evans and was awarded the blue ribbon.

HAVE A HOLLY JOLLY CHRISTMAS—Is the theme of these corsages. The corsage in the center, fashioned by Lyn Nybo, was selected the blue ribbon winner at the recent Bay-Waveland Garden Club's Annual Christmas Flower Show conducted at the J.D. Brameyer residence in Waveland.

WHITE CHRISTMAS—Anne Ashman displays the flowering White Christmas Cactus which won her a Best of Show ribbon in the Horticultural Division of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club Annual Christmas Flower Show.

TALL DESIGN—'Go tell it on the Mountain' was the theme for several tall designs at the recent Bay-Waveland Garden Club's Annual Christmas Flower Show. The design above, a large driftwood log adorned with red gladioli, was entered by Alice Holmes and was selected the blue ribbon winner in the tall design category.

BLUE RIBBON WINNER—This orchid, grown by Alice Brameyer, won the blue ribbon in the Flowering Horticultural Division.

WILD GROW—This large, festive design was made with wildflowers and was selected the blue ribbon winner at the recent Bay-Waveland Garden Club flower show.

UNIQUE PLANT—Mary Evans' design, featuring a unique plant, was selected the blue ribbon winner in the Cat Specimen Category.

DING DONG MERRILY ON HIGH—Is the theme of these hanging decorations made by members of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club for their Annual Christmas Flower Show. The reindeer, made of pine cones, center, was fashioned by Alice Holmes and was awarded Best of Show for design.

HAVE YOURSELF A MERRY CHRISTMAS—Is the theme of these mantel decorations. The little reindeer and tree, center, was entered by Alice Holmes and was selected blue ribbon.

ECKERD

NEW ECKERD DRUGS LOCATION—The first tenant to occupy Marketown Shopping Center is Eckerd Drug Store, which has doubled the size of the previous location in the Bay Mall. According to pharmacist-manager Tony Schexnayder, the store features a new gift section, expanded cosmetic section and a wider variety of all regularly stocked items. Eckerd's recently acquired the former Gulf Thrifty Drug Store's prescription files. Bob Wyatt, former pharmacist has joined the Eckerd staff. Barbara Wallace is assistant manager and the store is open Monday through Saturday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Sunday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

Family Dollar's Marketown location to be variety chain's 22nd store

The 22nd Family Dollar store in Mississippi and the 574th in the North Carolina-based discount variety store chain will open in Bay St. Louis Wednesday.

The new store, located in Marketown Shopping Center on US-90 will open at 10 a.m. Local officials and Family Dollar executives will take part in a brief ribbon cutting ceremony at the main entrance to the store immediately before the opening.

The company is offering special grand opening sale prices after the ceremonies.

Jim Seagraves, vice president of store operations, said, "Family Dollar looks forward to opening in Bay St. Louis and being part of a fine business market."

John McCrorey, the firm's district manager for the area said, "Family Dollar offers excellent employment opportunities in this area and throughout the Southeast. As many local people are possible will be employed at the new store."

McCrorey added that Family Dollar is a rapidly expanding company and always interested in talking with management trainee candidates.

The store will carry a complete line of merchandise for the family and home, including clothing and shoes, health and beauty aids, housewares, school supplies, candy, toys, paint and auto supplies.

Family Dollar was founded in 1959 with a single store in Charlotte, and today is the fastest growing retail discount store chain in the Southeast. There are more than 3,910,707 square feet of total sales space in the chain's 574 stores.

The company presently operates in the two Carolinas, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Arkansas, Louisiana and Kentucky.

The general offices and distribution center are located in Charlotte.

Family Dollar Stores, Inc. is a publicly held company with common stock traded on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol "FDO."

Print media exec joins Coast ad firm

Jim Miller, president of AD Venture Advertising, Inc., reports Bill Morrison, of Gulfport has joined the Gulfport based advertising firm which serves accounts in Hancock County.

Morrison's background in print media, Miller indicated, will contribute to the firm's current period of major expansion which has included the establishment of complete video and audio production facilities.

A former employee of Gulf Publishing Company for five years, Morrison held positions as account executive, display advertising manager, preprint coordinator, co-op coordinator and regional account executive.

A business major when at the University of Mississippi and the University of Southern Mississippi, he is presently working toward an MBA degree.

A graduate of Biloxi High, Morrison was reared on the Gulf Coast. He is married to the former Tamara Shell of Gulfport. They have two children, Rachel Ann and Edward Zachary.

Morrison's new responsibilities, Miller said, will include representing designated print oriented clients, coordinating print production and co-op advertising, and editing of various publications.

New Orleans museum presenting free event

The New Orleans Museum of Art will present "The World of Honore Daumier," a live theatrical production Sunday, Dec. 19 and Jan. 9, at 3 p.m.

Presented in conjunction with the museum's current exhibition "Honore Daumier 1808-1879, From The Armand Hammer Collection," the play introduces the audience to Daumier, one of France's 19th century artists, his time and his works, in counterpoint with staged adaptations of short stories by the 19th century French writer Guy de Maupassant.

The characters and images in Daumier's work reflect life realistically. That reality is also reflected in the short stories of Guy de Maupassant.

"The World of Honore Daumier" combines vignettes of Guy de Maupassant short stories and selections of Daumier's work on slides, with Daumier, himself, as narrator and guide.

By joining de Maupassant's literary art to Daumier's visual perceptions, one can hear as well as see the people and places that comprised Daumier's world. This multimedia presentation is being produced by Sandra Campbell and Len Sobel.

"The World of Honore Daumier" will be presented in "NOMA," St. Louis Auditorium and is free by admission to the Museum.

"Honore Daumier 1808-1879, From The Armand Hammer Collection," on view through Jan. 16, is made possible by the Armand Hammer Foundation and Occidental Petroleum Corp.

Special programs are supported by a grant from the Louisiana Department of Culture, Recreation, and Tourism, Office of Cultural Development, Division of the Arts, and by a grant from the Louisiana Committee for the Humanities, a state-based affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

ETV Brief

HIGH SPEED TRAINS

"Nova" reports on the high-speed trains of today and the super-speed trains of tomorrow in "Tracking the Super-trains" at 8 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 14, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

"Nova" examines what may seem like an element in a science fiction movie but is rather a real train, practically noiseless, riding six inches off the ground as if powered by a mysterious anti-gravity force. It is actually the prototype of a new, magnetic supertrain being developed in Japan.

Although magnet-powered trains are not yet carrying commuters, both Japan and Europe do have commercially successful trains speeding at more than 150 miles per hour.

HOME REMODELINGON UPSWING

QUESTION: Help! When my wife and I bought our home there was enough space. Now, three kids later, we are running out of room. We can't afford to buy with current prices and interest rates what they are. Any suggestions?

K.G. Jackson

ANSWER: Dear K.G.:

Many people are responding to the high cost of buying a new home by fixing up the one they already own. In a recent press release the National Association of Home Builders reports that American homeowners spent in excess of $47 billion in 1981 on home improvements.

Apparently, you and your family are not the only ones

short on space in that the most common improvements were installation of new bathrooms and remodeling and constructing garages. In the cases where garages are being remodeled, the most often cited reason was for additional living space.

For families needing more space or better facilities, the remodeling option holds several advantages. The existing mortgage loan may be retained, thereby avoiding new and expensive financing. Moving costs are saved and, even if your move is only across town, the total cost of such a move can be steep.

Much of the work involved in remodeling can be done by the homeowner and home improvement stores are abundant to help in this task. In addition, you should be able to find a contractor who will agree to do whatever part of the work you either cannot do or choose not to do. The money to finance small home improvement jobs generally comes from personal savings, and for larger jobs second mortgage loans can be arranged. Talk to your lender about such a loan. In addition, your lender can direct you to contractors who can assist you in designing and constructing the improvements you wish to make.

SAVINGS AND LOANS OFFER NEW MORTGAGES

QUESTION: I keep reading where lenders are now making mortgages other than the old fixed rate type, yet I cannot find a lender who will make an innovative type loan. Are such loans really that available? J.C. McComb.

ANSWER: Dear J.C.: As conditions and needs have changed in this country, new financing techniques have been introduced by lenders. The switch from term mortgages (where you only pay interest and do not reduce the principal) to fully-amortized mortgages (what you probably have on your house today) as well as an increase in the loan-to-value ratio that lenders now use are examples of action.

While no one is sure as to exactly what lies ahead, a number of different types of financing techniques are being discussed and analyzed as to their application. Some, as indicated by recent surveys, are being used in certain parts of the country.

While it may be that lenders in your area have not begun making adjustable rate mortgages, all indications are that such loans are becoming more and more popular with lenders. Such loans are generally available in most parts of the country. A real estate broker in your area should be able to direct you to a lender who is making such loans.

For answers to your questions, write Dr. Dennis Tosh, P. O. Box 295, University, Miss. 38677.

FOR THE REST OF YOUR LIFE

POINT OF LAW

Mississippi State Bar

This column is prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some legal rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your rights.

Q: What steps must a landlord take to evict a tenant who has not paid his rent?

A: A landlord certainly has the legal right to remove a tenant who has failed to make rental payments.

The law requires that a landlord, in order to remove such a tenant, must give the tenant three days notice, in writing, stating that the tenant must either pay his rent or move from the premises.

Three days after the notice is given to the tenant, the landlord may file an eviction action in court to have the tenant removed.

Q: Can a tenant who is current in his rental payments be removed by a landlord?

A: Whether a tenant who is current in rental payments can be removed will depend upon the type of rental agreement between the tenant and the landlord.

If the tenant and landlord have agreed that the lease will last for a certain period of time, then the landlord cannot remove the tenant during that period if the tenant is paying rent and has not violated the lease in some way.

If, for example, a tenant has a six-month lease, he may not be removed arbitrarily during the six-month period.

On the other hand, if the tenant and landlord have not agreed upon any specified length of time for the lease, the landlord may terminate the tenancy at any time by giving the tenant the proper amount of notice.

If a tenant is renting an apartment or house on a monthly rental basis, the landlord must give the tenant seven days written notice that the tenancy is terminated.

If the tenant has not moved by the end of seven days, the landlord can file an eviction action to remove the tenant.

However, the landlord cannot remove a monthly tenant in the middle of a month for which the tenant has already paid.

If the seven-day notice is given during the middle of a month, it will not become effective until the end of the period for which the tenant has paid.

Q: When is a landlord required by law to repair rental property?

A: In most states, a landlord has a general duty to maintain rental property in good repair and in a habitable condition.

In Mississippi, however, the landlord has a duty to repair rental property only in particular circumstances.

If the landlord has agreed to repair the property for the tenant, he has a duty to do so. In addition, a landlord must repair any "common areas" used by all tenants, such as halls, stairways and lobbies.

Furthermore, a landlord must repair any hidden defects in the property. For example, if a landlord knows that a house contains dangerous, defective wiring, and the tenant is unaware of this defect, the landlord has a responsibility to repair the wiring.

Q: What are the rights of a tenant who is injured because of a defect in the rental property?

A: If a tenant is injured because of defective rental property, his rights will depend upon whether the landlord had a duty, under one of the exceptions listed above, to repair the defect.

If the landlord had a duty to repair, and did not, and the tenant's injury is caused by the defect, the tenant has a cause of action against the landlord for damages for his injury.

In addition, any member of the tenant's household or any guest in the tenant's house who is injured because of the defect has a cause of action against the landlord for damages.

A lease may contain a provision which states that the landlord is not liable for any injuries caused to a tenant, his family or his guest by the landlord's failure to repair the leased property.

Such a clause is not effective if the property is being leased for residential purposes. A landlord cannot avoid his responsibility for injuries in this manner.

Q: Can landlords raise the rent whenever they want to?

A: In a month-to-month tenancy, stability in the amount of rent may exist only on a monthly basis. In a year's lease, the landlord cannot raise the rent during the term of the lease.

If the landlord wants to raise the rent during the lease period, he or she must give the tenant something in return, i.e., a new contract.

Landlords have one way to demand higher rent, an "escalator" clause in the lease. This provides that if the landlord's cost suddenly increased dramatically, for example, for energy, the landlord has the right to demand higher rent.

Q: Are landlords entitled to receive their rent under all circumstances?

A: In states that recognize the warranty of habitability, tenants can purposely fail to pay all or portion of the rent due because of the landlord's failure to keep the place livable. This is called "rent abatement."

If the tenant withholds rent, he or she must be prepared:

1) to defend the amount withheld in court if the landlord sues the tenant for eviction;

2) to prove that the defect in question was a serious one, affecting health and safety or something else crucial to habitability;

And 3) to verify that the landlord was given notice that something was wrong and had the opportunity to fix it.

Failure to pay the rent without a reason is the quickest way to be evicted.

Q: What can landlords do when their tenant doesn't live up to the lease?

A: It is common for leases to expressly contain a provision allowing the landlord to regain possession of the premises if the tenant fails to live up to the lease provisions, for example, failure to pay rent, damage to property, unauthorized subleasing or assigning, illegal use of the premises, or violation of other provisions.

Another method of compensation for failure to pay rent is a "rent acceleration clause," meaning that all future rent due under the lease becomes immediately payable.

Publisher lists

Who's Who students

A total of 89 students from this area have been included in the 16th annual edition of 'Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1981-82.'

Who's Who, published by Educational Communications, Inc., Lake Forest, Ill. is the largest high school recognition publication in the country.

Students are selected by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups, churches or by the publishing company based upon students' performance in scholarship award contests or extra-curricular activities.

Final selection is determined on the basis of criteria which include high achievement—in academics—and leadership in school activities, athletics or community service.

Traditionally, 99 percent of Who's Who students have a grade point average of "B" or better and 97 percent are college bound.

The 16th edition of Who's Who, published in nine regional volumes, features 363,000 students, or 5 percent of the nation's 6,500,000 high school juniors and seniors.

They represent 20,000 of the 22,000 public, private and parochial high schools in the country.

Who's Who students also compete for over $50,000 in scholarship awards and participate in the publication's annual opinion poll of teen attitudes.

The book is distributed on a complimentary basis to over 15,000 high schools, colleges, universities, and public libraries throughout the country.

Local students selected for this year's volume include:

Down Home

By Darlene Underwood

Those leftovers from Christmas dinner may prolong memories of the holiday meal, but they're also helpful to the hurried homemaker who can use them in main dishes, lunches, snacks and sandwiches.

Wise use of leftovers can help almost as much as wise food buying in keeping the food budget in line.

Don't let leftovers be simple repetition, let them stimulate your ingenuity. So often they give a needed filler to a dish you're making from scratch. Sometimes they combine to make a vegetable souffle or to dress up an omelet or to turn a can of soup into a real delicacy.

Quiche and crepes are two elegant ways to use leftovers. Practically anything you have left can go into either of these dishes. Get your basic quiche and crepe recipe out. You can prepare the crepes and freeze between layers of waxed paper. Then all you need is the leftovers and a sauce to serve up an entirely different meal.

Limit the number of leftover ingredients so that they retain some semblance of identity. If there is too much of a mish-mash, the flavors simply cancel out as does the appetite.

Do you have just a little meat leftover? There's not enough for another meal but too much to throw out? Add small pieces of meat to tossed salads, casseroles, omelettes or sandwich spreads.

Combine leftover meat, poultry, ground liver and kidney in a spicy chili dish. Grate cheese to sprinkle on a favorite vegetable or meat dish. Combine leftover meat, poultry or cheese with pasta products—macaroni, spaghetti or noodles.

Add pieces of meat to a soup mixture.

TURKEY CORN CHOWDER
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 medium onion, chopped
2 cups water
2 chicken bouillon cubes
3 cups diced cooked turkey or chicken
1 cup sliced celery
5 medium potatoes, cubed

1 (17-ounce) can whole kernel corn, drained
1 (17-ounce) can cream-style corn
1 quart milk
Salt and pepper to taste
Chopped fresh parsley (optional)
Paprika (optional)

Melt butter in a Dutch oven; add onion, and saute until tender. Stir in water, bouillon cubes, turkey, celery, and potatoes; cook 20 to 30 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Add corn and milk; season with salt and pepper. Simmer until thoroughly heated. Sprinkle with parsley and paprika, if desired. Yield: about 8 to 10 servings.

TURKEY TETRAZZINI

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
2 cups milk
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cups diced roast turkey
1 1/2 cups cooked (3/4 cup uncooked) spaghetti
1/2 cup cooked mushrooms
1/4 cup chopped pimiento
1/4 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
Melted butter or margarine

Melt 1/4 cup butter in heavy saucepan. Add flour and stir until blended. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add seasonings.

Combine this white sauce with turkey, spaghetti, mushrooms, pimiento and cheese. Place in buttered 2-quart casserole. Combine bread crumbs and melted butter and sprinkle over top. Bake at 325 degrees for about 25 minutes or until well browned. Yield - 6 servings.

LAYERED HAM AND TURKEY BAKE

1 1/4 cups egg noodles, uncooked
2 quarts boiling water
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
1 1/4 cups turkey or chicken broth
1 (10 3/4 ounce) can cream of celery soup, undiluted
2 cups diced cooked ham

2 cups diced cooked turkey or chicken
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning

Cook noodles in 2 quarts boiling water 10 minutes or until tender. Drain; set aside. Melt butter in a 2-quart saucepan over medium heat; add onion and celery. Cook until vegetables are tender. Add flour, stirring until smooth. Cook 1 minute, stirring constantly. Stir in broth and soup; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and bubbly. Reduce heat; simmer 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat; stir in ham, turkey, pimiento, and poultry seasoning. Place half of noodles in a lightly greased 13x9x2 inch baking dish; top with half of meat mixture. Repeat layers. Bake at 350 degrees for 30-35 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Yield 6 to 8 servings.

National Dean's List includes 24 area students

A total of 24 students from this area have been included in the 5th annual edition of The National Dean's List, the largest recognition publication honoring college students, published by Educational Communications, Inc., Lake Forest, Ill.

Students are selected for recognition by their deans or on their school's Dean's List. The 77,000 students included in the current edition are from 2,000 colleges and universities nationwide and represent one-half of one percent of the more than 8,000,000 college students in the country.

Local students selected include:

Bay St. Louis
Ellie M. Battalora, Mike S. Battalora, and Carolyn E. Ferrell, all of University of Southern Mississippi; Judge W. Flood, Pearl River Junior College; Nicholas M. Hass Jr., Paula L. Jackson, Kelly S. Paul, Julia J. Payne, and Danita L. Scianna, all of the University of Southern Mississippi; Lloyd J. Shubert Jr., Mississippi State University; Deborah K. Skelton, University of Southern Mississippi; and Leslie A. Staehle, University of Mississippi.
